The aim of this Workshop was to inculcate Interpersonal skills with communication skills. Faculty learnt different ways of communication and the role of interpersonal skills in it. Studying the science of presentation and the factors involved in an effective presentation was programmed with activities and role plays. The workshop was held in two sessions as pre and post lunch sessions.

Faculty members were made familiar with innovative ideas from the inspiring stories of great personalities which motivated the participants to learn in a better way.

The art of scientific knowledge and techniques were practically implemented. The effective oral skills facilitated the transition. Participants felt enthusiastic enough to learn various things in the workshop.
