-: ACM Technical (“Code Mantra”) Event Report :-

Introduction:

Association for Computing Machinery (ACM) successfully organized a captivating programming contest titled "CODE MANTRA" on August 10th, 2023. The event took place at Lab-5, commencing at 2:00 PM and concluding at 4:00 PM. The contest aimed to test participants' knowledge and skills in various programming languages, focusing on C, Java, and Python. With an entry fee of just 20/- per participant, the event attracted a total of 25 enthusiastic members.

Event Overview:

The primary theme of CODE MANTRA revolved around evaluating students' proficiency in programming languages and coding skills. Participants were presented with five thought-provoking questions that delved into the fundamentals of C and Python programming. The contest was hosted on the HACKERRANK platform, ensuring a seamless and fair competition environment. ACM coordinators meticulously verified that all students adhered to the honesty policy, promoting a level playing field for all participants.

Contest Format:

The contest employed a comprehensive approach to determine the winners. Participants were required to complete all the provided questions within the given time frame. In case of a tie, the timing of code completion was taken into consideration. The participant who finished the code in the shortest duration was declared the winner. This approach not only assessed the accuracy of solutions but also rewarded efficient coding practices.

Winners and Conclusion:

As the contest reached its conclusion, it was evident that CODE MANTRA had achieved its objectives. Participants had the opportunity to put their programming knowledge to the test, and their enthusiasm added to the event's overall success. The winners were determined based on both accurate solutions and swift coding. ACM extends its heartfelt congratulations to the winners and appreciation to all participants for their remarkable efforts.
