BriefSummary:

As part of awareness of women entrepreneurship activity, I and II B Tech (ECE) students gathered. The activity was organized by the team. The session is on the awareness on how to turn educated women as women entrepreneurs. Discussed about How to support female business leaders in their business environment and how women entrepreneurs can overcome their challenges. Conducting workshops, providing mentorship support and an opportunity to present their startups/ideas to stakeholders of the startup ecosystem. This session

To promote women entrepreneurship, SIDBI has been directed to reserve 10% of the Fund of Funds for women led startups. Further, all the Alternative Investment Funds, Central Government Departments and State Governments having specific schemes for start-ups and entrepreneurs shall reserve at least one third of the benefits for women. To promote flow of both equity and debt to women led startups, interactions of such women entrepreneurs with venture funds supported by SIDBI and lending institutions including banks are being organized by inviting applications on the 'Startup India Hub' and inviting selected women entrepreneurs, after a process of screening by experts, to interact with these institutions for both equity/debt funding. Specific and suitable entrepreneurship development programs for women led startups throughout the country are being designed by ascertaining the training/skilling needs of the target groups. To meet the advisory needs of the startups led by women, legal, tax, financial and other service providers. Here

Students discussed about Making authoritative first impressions. One of the biggest challenges women entrepreneurs is creating an authoritative first impression.
